The Swedish countryside is splendid for cycling, with beautiful scenery and interesting sights. Although road safety and road standards are excellent in Sweden, many roads have heavy car traffic. If you want to avoid these, you should choose smaller roads, or you should follow sign-posted cycling tracks of good quality. Many towns have a connected net of cycling tracks. On our web page you can find recommended tours and tracks. Unfortunately, only the headings are translated into English, but that may be sufficient. Maps and cycling terms are more or less international and your friendly neighbourhood Swede will be happy to help you out! Some fact sheets are available in English or German and if so, this is indicated.
